Blarney, Cork City & Kinsale

The rich heritage that surrounds Ireland's second largest city, welcomes every visitor. In addition to Cork City's thriving merchant sea tradition, the County itself occupies much of Ireland's South West and enjoys a mild gulf stream climate, which lends itself to exotic gardens and enchanting views.

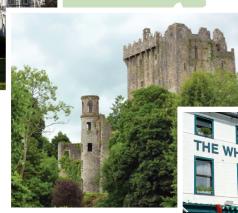

After collecting you at your accommodation, we head first to Blarney Castle, world renown for gifting eloquence to all who kiss the 'Blarney Stone' we also have the option to stroll through the exquisite Castle Gardens, and drop by Blarney Woollen Mills, retail outlet.

Our journey continues south into the busy City of Cork, where we can catch sight of many landmarks including St Finbar's Cathedral. We have time in the City to visit The English Market, a thriving emporium for food lovers.

After lunch, we leave the city and take a short drive to the picturesque fishing town of Kinsale a 17th Century fortified port and the site of the sinking of the Lusitania just offshore. It's now the starting point of the Wild Atlantic Way. Here at Kinsale we can stroll through the quaint harbour front, with its craft shops, or visit the 16th Century Courthouse Museum (site of the official inquest into the sinking of the Lusitania, by a German U boat in WW1) or take the walk out to the 'Head of Kinsale' (3.7 miles - 2 hrs).

As we make our return northwards don't forget to ask your Chauffeur what other opportunities this great region offers before heading back to your accommodation.
